AIDC SOUTHERN LIGHT AWARD

Nomination Guidelines

Want to nominate someone for the AIDC Southern Light Award? This guide provides you with all the information you need.

AIDC (Australian International Documentary Conference) is now seeking nominations for the prestigious Southern Light Award, celebrating luminaries of the Australian documentary and factual industry.

Expanding the eligibility scope of the pre-existing Stanley Hawes Award presented from 1997 to 2023, the Southern Light Award is a $5,000 cash prize presented by AIDC to an Australian industry professional for their outstanding contribution to nonfiction screen, digital and/or audio media.

AIDC SOUTHERN LIGHT AWARD NOMINATION PROCESS

Nominating a candidate for the AIDC Southern Light Award is simple and free of charge.

If you wish to nominate someone for the Southern Light Award you must:

- provide a 200 word written statement as to why you are nominating this candidate
- be a current AIDC member.
 - An AIDC member is anyone who is a citizen or permanent resident of Australia who attended AIDC 2024 or has purchased an AIDC Membership.
 - To purchase a membership please complete and submit an AIDC Membership Application Form, along with a fee of $38.50 (GST inclusive). Once processed, payment confirmation will be sent to you via email and your membership will be valid for one calendar year from the date that payment of membership is received. Please note that membership does not grant access to AIDC 2025

To make a nomination please complete the AIDC Southern Light Award Nomination Form.

Please Note: To access the form, you will be prompted to log in to or create a free MY AIDC account. Please email info@aidc.com.au if you have any issues.
